
Preparing for Categorical Program Monitoring (CPM): English Learner Programs

Description:

This workshop is designed to prepare district and school site administrators for the Categorical Program Monitoring (CPM) review of the English Learner Programs.

Course Topics:

- Address the most frequent non-compliant EL items: ELAC, DELAC, English Language Development (ELD), identification, assessment and report, etc..
- Discuss the evidence needed for the most frequent non-compliant items.

Date: January 29, 2008

Time: 8:30 am — 12:00 pm

Location: Alum Rock Union Elementary School District, 2930 Gay Ave. San Jose, CA 95127

Fee: $85.00 for non Santa Clara County School Participants
Free for district and site administrators in Santa Clara County Schools
Santa Clara County participants will have enrollment priority.

Registration: <http://santaclara.k12oms.org/eventdetail.php?id=12527>

Registration Deadline: January 11, 2008

Presenter:

Jeanette Ganahl has been serving as the Interim Administrator of the English Learner Accountability Unit (ELAU) with the California Department of Education (CDE) since this past July. Prior to this assignment, she served as a consultant within ELAU, and before that, was the lead consultant for the development and implementation of the California English Language Development Test (CELDT). Before joining the CDE, Jeanette was in the Office of Research, Evaluation and Assessment in Fresno Unified School District where she focused on assessment and the evaluation of instructional programs provided to English Learners. Her career includes 20 years in public education as a District Test Coordinator and District Curriculum Coordinator, College Instructor in English, Math and ESL, Reading Specialist, Resource Teacher and Classroom Teacher.

This training will replace the originally scheduled new ELAC members' meeting on January 10, 2008.

Preparing for Categorical Program Monitoring (CPM): English Learners with Special Needs

Description:

This workshop will cover Categorical Program Monitoring (CPM) requirements for English learners with special needs.

Course Topics:

- Processes for administering the California English Language Development Test (CELDT) to English learners with special needs.
- Program services for English learners with Individualized Education Programs (IEPs).
- Accommodations or alternate assessments for English learners with special needs.

Date: January 29, 2008

Time: 1:00 pm — 4:30 pm

Location: Alum Rock Union Elementary School District. 2930 Gay Ave. San Jose, CA 95127

Fee: $85.00 for non Santa Clara County School Participants
Free for district and site administrators in Santa Clara County Schools
Santa Clara County participants will have enrollment priority.

Registration: <http://santaclara.k12oms.org/eventdetail.php?id=12528>

Registration Deadline: January 11, 2008

Presenters:

Silvia L. DeRuvo, M. A., is currently a Special Education Resources Development Specialist for the California Comprehensive Center at WestEd. Prior to her work at WestEd, Silvia had been an elementary special educator for nearly 20 years, working with children with mild to moderate disabilities in integrated settings. She is also a co-author of Teaching Young Children with ADHD; Intervention Strategies for PreK-3rd recently published by Corwin Press. Silvia is also an instructor at Sacramento State University, is a former Past-President of CARS+ and is a national speaker on special education practices for the Institute for Educational Development.

Jeanette Ganahl has been serving as the Interim Administrator of the English Learner Accountability Unit (ELAU) with the California Department of Education (CDE) since this past July. Prior to this assignment, she served as a consultant within ELAU, and before that, was the lead consultant for the development and implementation of the California English Language Development Test (CELDT). Before joining the CDE, Jeanette was in the Office of Research, Evaluation and Assessment in Fresno Unified School District where she focused on assessment and the evaluation of instructional programs provided to English Learners. Her career includes 20 years in public education as a District Test Coordinator and District Curriculum Coordinator, College Instructor in English, Math and ESL, Reading Specialist, Resource Teacher and Classroom Teacher.